

BIOCHEMIC THERAPY

THE BASIC PRINCIPLES

The foundation of Biochemistry was laid more than a century ago, when Rudolph Virchow, one of the fore-most scientists of the day, discovered that the human body is composed of an enormous number of tiny, living cells, each one made up of an infinitesimal but perfectly balanced quantity of three classes of materials – water, organic substances and inorganic substances. Water and organic matter such as sugar albuminous and fatty substances make up the greater portion of the body. The inorganic (mineral) elements, however, although present in very much smaller quantities, are the really vital elements, the active workers which utilize the inactive substances in building the millions of cells of which the body is composed. The life of these cells is of short duration: millions of them are constantly breaking down and new ones are just as rapidly being built up, providing the necessary material for this continuous rebuilding is in constant supply.

Dr. Schuessler's Therapy

Dr Schuessler determined that these inorganic substances are present in the body as compounds (Mineral salts), and he named twelve principal compounds which he called "tissue salts". He defined the types of disease (Symptoms) arising from a deficiency of each tissue salt and from this knowledge was able to prescribe with great accuracy and effect. Dr Schuessler studied the function of each of these twelve tissue salts and was able to define the type of disorder caused by the disturbance of the physiological balance of each tissue salt.

The five, proven principles of Dr. Schuessler Biochemistry:

1. Disease does not occur if cell metabolism is normal.
2. Cell metabolism is in turn normal if cell nutrition is adequate.
3. Nutritional substances are either of an organic or inorganic nature where the body is concerned.
4. The ability of the body cells to assimilate and to excrete and further to utilize nutritional material is impaired if there is a deficiency in the inorganic mineral (tissue salt) constituents of cellular tissues.
5. Adequate cell nutrition may be restored and cellular metabolism normalized by supplying the required tissue salts to the organism in a finely divided assimilable form

The Clinical Science of Biochemic Therapy, designed and approved by the Association of Biochemistry (BBD) Biochemischer Bund Deutschland (eV) German Association of Biochemistry founded in 1885 discusses in depth, The Physiological Role of Minerals - Structural – Electrochemical – Metabolic, Catalytic, and Miscellaneous – The twelve Schuessler Minerals as simple Cation and Anion bonding pairs, Absorption, Deficiencies and causes, including Drug induced nutrient depletion together with all aspects of the use of the minerals. This workshop is open to everyone

Facial Diagnostic workshops are conducted in accordance with the documented studies of Dr. Schuessler, subsequently proven by Dr. Hickethier in the 20th Century, and in accordance with the policy of the German Training Centre, with assistance from : Dr. Peter Emmrich MD Diploma Biochemistry, Diploma Chemistry, Diploma Biology

In view of the indepth approach to Physiological and Psychological signs and symptoms displayed in acute and chronic illness Facial Diagnostic workshops are open to practitioners only.

Those participants of the full time Clinical Science of Biochemic Therapy courses who successfully complete the final examination, will be awarded a Diploma certificate; (ATMS 20 CPE points) Those not wishing to take the examination will be awarded a certificate of participation.

Those participants in the Facial diagnostics workshop will receive a certificate of attendance from the BBD which provides (ATMS 14 CPE points.)

The Institute Of Biochemic Medicine

(Asia Pacific)

Offers:

- A workshop in Facial Diagnostics
- A Diploma in The Clinical Science of Biochemic Therapy

FACIAL DIAGNOSTICS

An introduction to the biochemic healing methods of Dr. Schuessler Relating to the facial signs, visible at the onset of Mineral Deficiencies

12th & 13th March 2011

THE CLINICAL SCIENCE OF BIOCHEMIC THERAPY.

Dr (med) W.H. Schuessler

14th, 15th & 16th March 2011

Mahogany Creek Hall
Cnr Jacoby St and Strettle Rd
Mahogany Creek.

*The courses are to be conducted by
The Institute of Biochemic Medicine (Asia Pacific)
On behalf of the Biochemischer Bund Deutschland

The German Association of Biochemistry founded 1885*

Accredited Instructor

*Dr Alex Sutton
Chairman, Asia Pacific branch of the Institute of Biochemistry (Germany)*

ATMS accredited courses attracting CPE Points

Workshop Costs

Facial Diagnostics. $200.00

The Clinical Science of Biochemic Therapy $600.00

Attendance at both workshops $700.00

(Paid by 25th February 2011)

Early Bird special: Pay by 11th February 2011 and receive a 5% discount

The cost of the course is inclusive of all courses Study material Goods and Services Tax and includes the following literature appropriate to the specific course of instruction.

A guide to the Biochemic Health Therapies of Dr Med W.H. Schuessler (ISBN 0 9578704 1 8)

Magnesium – An essential element of life ISBN 0 9578704 – 0-X)

Facial Diagnostics an introduction to the Biochemic healing method of Dr Schuessler (ISBN 3 925207-06-6

Students need only furnish personal note books and writing implements.

Morning - afternoon tea is provided and we suggest that lunch be provided by a “bring a plate” and share system.

Lectures and study times are as follows:

Daily 9 am until 5 pm.

The Clinical Science of Biochemic Therapy, examination of 2 hours duration will take place on final day commencing at 1pm.
